SAVING the FUTURE:

Those who read the originals might feel extensive repetition boring but refinements and improvements now further support some elements early treated with caution. Information needs be kept up-to-date in dangerously developing situations.

Addition of new information, consolidation and reminder, all make revision worthwhile and the importance of it is shown by a new report that moved the pollution build-up danger point from the future to the past. A calculation error they said. But it may well have been a consequence of the multiplying effects of out-of-balance-forces now included in this treatise.

Global Warming was recently only visible to the world as a theory parroted by "Greenies" to attract attention and raise funds. Now we see their good intentions, (low in understanding) cause thousands of acres of trees to burn; nature so quickly responds!

People working behind the scenes were gathering evidence and finding the truth of it. But behind all are those influential who seek to gain advantage from prior knowledge and do not want to "frighten people" before they have the evidence to make decisions in their own interests.

Honest observers of present culture see that such people, using philosophy of deceit, may keep the commonalty confused and deceived indefinitely; thus human arrogance fights against truth to its own demise.

By the time our original articles finished, enough information was in the public arena (for those alert and in search of it) to see the basics and put the story together. Also obvious was that this was not entirely conclusive (how much was reliable), what was real and what created to confuse the general public.

Global Warming Part 1: Warming or Warning

El Nino research has added significantly to our understanding of how changing sea currents effect weather patterns, these changes are so influential as to have destroyed the Moche civilization in Peru. That culture (comparable with the Maya and Aztecs) was weakened to destruction by a long period of violent weather, (earth science confirmed).

The destructiveness was aided then, as today, by cultural behaviour based on worship of false Gods.

Mass media tells of rising sea level and reports on storms and hurricanes. Al Gore explains the evidence of pollution reaching levels rising far beyond historic record and confirms evidence of glaciers melting at astonishing speed.

But all evidence is not shouted from the rooftops; we must realize that we are in a war for survival and some want advantage of prior knowledge. The philosophy they teach says there is no truth; a guess is as good as a reasoned opinion; but somehow we doubt their own decisions are made so foolishly.

Public debate about Global Warming is pathetic. Politicians have no respect for each other and no informed viewer can respect them. Serious TV adds to the problem by 'politically-correct' debating as politicians rave about irrelevancies to avoid action.

Did Globalists (they own the commercial financial system) see the opportunity of using global pollution to eliminate unneeded population without attracting blame? All they needed do was encourage polluting waste in guise of wealth, to confuse consequences.

"Global Warming" as a title, sounds so comfortable to live with and money means nothing to those who control its printing. Machines, privately owned, print at production cost but governments (with our work-value) pay face value.

(The only value of paper money is as it represents the goods (work) of production. When money is printed in excess it produces inflation. In recent years massive amounts of money have been printed in excess and much sent overseas. Plus mega-bucks are now held in cyber-space accounts; this money is what is behind the present meltdown. The economy is a Globalist war game. How will they play?)

Global Warming is the biggest physical threat mankind has faced, if you think it is not going to require significant sacrifices prepare for a shock. First, the price of energy (generated by oil and coal) should be increased to a point where users think twice about use! The money saved and tax gained by this should be devoted to urgent research directed to clean fuels, solar energy and first flush water collection systems for private housing. Risk; high; Rationing essential!

If our governments had concern for those on whose behalf they claim to govern, "Global Warming" would have been called Global 'Warning'! Leading nations would already have taken urgent action to outlaw war; cease arms production (full inspection of facilities).

Clean technology would be encouraged (it is already demonstrated that most private car use is suited to electric cars fuelled by sun energy from home roofing). But who owns car factories, oil, and the political parties?

Who is going to be abused and threatened when factories close? Who fears the problems posed by keeping world population in dream-time ignorance? The guilty feel more comfortable turning the anger aside – manipulators will continue to lie.

Stopping international war and arms manufacture would itself make quick and useful reduction in waste of energy, resource-materials and pollution! Our new need is for armies trained for rescue and repair, not for unprovoked assault with its infusion of fear and hate.

Talk of saving sick living standards, as a priority of research; of constructions needing years before having effect – is crazy! Significant change needed NOW! A 25% reduction of pollution could, with public understanding, be achieved in a couple of years. Technology is awaiting intelligent direction.

Steps above would impress on people of leading nations that upsetting the balance of nature attracts real and disastrous consequences. All should prepare for flow-on effects. The technology is already at hand for cutting both pollution and cost but delay and political deceit serves the Globalist "City of Commerce".

Working environmental scientists agree: this is our most serious survival challenge. The dominant cause is human. World political propaganda fits genocide better than it fits suicide. Primitive culture uses war for population control; driven by ego and ignorance, do quisling governments deliver us into a global trap?

The "Global 2000 Club", an elite organization within the "Club of Rome" exposed its genocide plan in 1980 when the U.S. State Department, and Council on Environmental Quality submitted it to President Carter. It was endorsed as official policy (USA Congressional Records). This report called for deletion of two billion of us by year 2000. Malthus foresaw rise of population problems (1766-1834). Globalist see the threat of unneeded people; do they see consequences of upset to balance of nature as serving their needs?

Why has no one warned of the effect of shifting huge weight of water from land to oceans? There are signs of increasing volcanic and earthquake activity and when human pollution melts permafrost, this melting can release global-warming pollutants even in excess of human stupidity.

Once out of balance, then these forces multiply. Just one super volcanic eruption caused by changing pressure on earth's fragile crust could disable even the most powerful nation and have compounding effects on the living areas of the entire earth. Who seeks to gain if public mind is focused on short-sighted issues?

How fast can natural forces build? Listen to reports; nations are acting to take advantage of warming arctic regions to find oil as though they have no care in the world. Why directs governments? Do they want us to expect a thousand years of summer holiday?

But remember the extinct animals found in frozen Siberia with temperate area vegetation in their mouths? Does that leave a different taste? Extreme change can occur quickly and realize that times of change are violent rather than even or gradual!

Already we see changes that, compounded, will devastate very large populations? Crops fail because of drought, others destroyed by out of season floods, hail, storm winds, etc. Deaths, through malnutrition and unusual weather already claim thousands!

Christian Gospels foretell human action capable of destroying life on earth. Tiny changes in ocean temperatures can have devastating effects: How or where will these changes will act? Both logic and what we are seeing, suggest violent and uncertain climate.

Farmers need consistent seasons – they need rain at the right time to plant the crop. Planted, it may be too dry to grow, or frosted, cooked by heat-wave; at harvest, drowned, destroyed by fire, hail or wind: many ways to lose a crop. Uncertain weather may reduce world food by half. Will we hoard against disaster – beg, starve or war when crops fail?

Why does vital scientific evidence not have compulsory display on all media? Why does serious research have restraints on distribution? Tectonic plate movements cause islands to sink or appear! Ice-melt changes ocean currents and change weather!

Sophisticated populations now have pathetic, child like dependence on public services. False social philosophy, when it fails, promotes violence that alone can destroy civilizations! No matter the size, balance is always fragile – failures quickly spread.

If the evidence is true, and in light of latest reports it's becoming difficult to deny, the floating plates of earth on which we all live will have their stability changed as weight moves from earth to oceans. As ice melts, sun's heat, rather than being reflected out of earth's atmosphere, is absorbed.

New understanding helps explain much in relation to past earth-changes. As a younger earth settled to relative stability, unusual events, such as super volcanic eruption or meteor strike (adds pollution); Consequential upsets to balance further increase pollution and erratic weather; even moves the magnetic poles. Such progression may end a million years later as the earth settles into a new stability.

But we cannot know the whole story.

Development of earth to standards of human occupation is complicated. We now find ourselves adding "ignorant industry" to instability. There is more to oil than meets the eye and we now find new evidence of how melting of the permafrost in Siberia will release potentially disastrous additional pollutants (reports below).

Can we chance that, in a few years, we see our languid reforms as just a waste of time? Will worldwide panic include biological and/or nuclear war?

Had we (as entitled) taken responsibility for our own governing, the evidence of global warming could not have been hidden. Misled activists, promoting emotional ideas without regard for understanding, leave many unconvinced. Confused, we evade responsibilities and our situation worsens.

Do Globalists see evidence and knowledge of global forces as chance to take advantage or misjudge the danger? Do they promote trivia of sports, gimmicks of technology, fads, fashions and entertainment to play down serious matters?

Sport generated air travel creates unneeded pollution of atmosphere! Industrial production to take advantage of "economic slavery" (to our shame) has made global transport also a significant polluter. Populations are at risk while tree planting, to offset pollution, encourages evasion rather than saving. How long will it take to replace trees burned after 'saved' by ignorant, do-gooder action? In the USA alone, many thousands of acres already burned this year.

Globalists create injustice, waste, war and terror, rather than warn of dangers – drugs are designed to profit from unhealthy lifestyle promotions! As owners or financial controllers of critical global industries, Globalist power controls selection of government members through "party system" selection.

Dictatorship is disguised by incessant mass-media claim of it as 'democracy'. This pretence of democracy is continually pushed into our minds because; if we think it through, we see that it is not democracy?

In control of governments, we can act quickly. We cannot afford to waste time on quisling governments that combine to deceive us as they evade useful action. Political procrastination will take us past the point of no return. Now: new evidence to confirm our danger:

Global Warming – 2: Releasing pre-historic Goo

By Dmitry Solovyov

[Reuters] (Condensed quote.) 16 September 2007.

Quote:"Sergei Zimov picks up a handful of treacly mud holds it up to his nose... "mammoth dung," he says.

"This is more than just another symptom of global warming. For millennia, layers of animal waste and other organic matter left behind by the creatures that used to roam the Arctic tundra have been sealed inside the frozen permafrost. Now climate change is thawing the permafrost and lifting this prehistoric ooze from suspended animation.

"But Zimov, a scientist who for almost 30 years has studied climate change in Russia's Arctic, believes that as this organic matter becomes exposed to the air it will accelerate global warming faster than even some of the most pessimistic forecasts. "This will lead to a type of global warming which will be impossible to stop," he said.

"When the organic matter left behind by mammoths and other wildlife is exposed to the air by the thawing permafrost, his theory runs, microbes that have been dormant for thousands of years spring back into action. "As a by-product they emit carbon dioxide and - even more damaging in terms of its impact on the climate - methane gas. According to Zimov, the microbes are going to start emitting these gases in enormous quantities.

"Here in Yakutia, a region in the north-eastern corner of Siberia, the belt of permafrost containing the mammoth-era soil covers an area roughly the size of France and Germany combined. There is even more of it elsewhere in Siberia. "The deposits of organic matter in these soils are so gigantic that they dwarf global oil reserves," Zimov said"

[U.S. government statistics say mankind emits about 7 billion tonnes of carbon a year. Mass vegetation in the past thrived on the pollution that now endangers us and just as oceanic life-forms consumed the pollution and earth movement sealed it away, so frost suddenly descending on Siberia, sealed in another great swag of the pollutants that once made earth unsuited to our human development.]

"Permafrost areas hold 500 billion tonnes of carbon, which can fast turn into greenhouse gases," Zimov said. "If you don't stop emissions of greenhouse gases into the atmosphere ... the Kyoto Protocol (an international pact aimed at reducing greenhouse emissions) will seem like childish prattle." Methane Emissions: It might be easy to dismiss the 52-year-old, with his beard and shock of wavy hair, as an alarmist crank. But his theory is grabbing attention in the scientific community.

"There's quite a bit of truth in it," Julian Murton, member of the International Permafrost Association, told Reuters. "The methane and carbon dioxide levels will increase as a result of permafrost degradation."

"A United Nations report in June said there was as yet no sign of widespread melting of permafrost that could stoke global warming, but noted the potential threat. [The UN is a Globalist baby; what information do they want to share? Ed.]

"Permafrost stores a lot of carbon, with upper permafrost layers estimated to contain more organic carbon than is currently contained in the atmosphere; the report said. "Permafrost thawing results in the release of this carbon in the form of greenhouse gases which will have a positive feedback effect to global warming."

"... At Duvanny Yar on the shores of the Kolyma River, the phenomenon that Zimov describes in speeches at scientific conferences can be seen first hand. The steep-sided river bank, until now held up by permafrost, is collapsing as the ice melts. Every few minutes, a thud can be heard as another wedge of soil and permafrost comes tumbling down, or a splash as a chunk falls into the river.

"Nearby, Zimov points to an area so far unaffected by the melting - a forest of larch trees with berries and mushrooms and covered with a soft cushion of moss and lichen. Further down the slope though, the landscape is covered with trees toppled over as the soil disintegrates. Brooks murmur down the slope carrying melted water.

"Elsewhere, places that five or 10 years ago were empty tundra are now dotted with lakes - a result of thawing permafrost. These 'thermokarst' lakes bubble with methane, over 20 times more potent as a greenhouse gas than carbon dioxide. ... Zimov warns that people everywhere should take notice, because within a few years, the knock-on effect of the permafrost melting in Siberia will be having a direct impact on their lives.

"Siberia's landscape is changing," he said. "But ... problems of the north will inevitably turn into the problems of Russia's south ..." [South of Russia].
End Quote.

Is it that bad? Well, be it so or not, we now know this is just part of consequences related to upset to global balance. It is in the nature of balanced systems that once forces of balance are broken, upsets to the balance of other forces result. Don't you think we should act rather than wait to see if we are wiped out?

If Global Warming causes caring people to think and act in their own defence, that will be the first miracle in a true new age of adventure and life potentials?

We are well aware that climates change naturally – that politically motivated groups make great play of disasters – that animals become extinct. But let's not ignore that, by emotional and intellectual trickery, greed and ego seeks to rule our world!

We, seduced with comfort and pleasure, ignore our intellect! Led to behave with incredible stupidity, we disregard consequences – we waste huge resources for harm of ourselves – create huge pollution for our own sickness and early death while we live by philosophies of stagnant dogma to create murderous behaviour at home and abroad.

Truth should be compulsory for prime-time TV! This whole Global Warming mess should be continually exposed and displayed on the internet! We should be encouraged to display DVDs like "CRUDE" on information sites!

Balance of nature is finely tuned by time and nature's truth! The difference between a natural change and catastrophic change may easily confuse the difference between stupidity and intelligence. Those who won't accept share of the problem avoid information and reasoned judgment of fact so as to avoid response.

Global Warming – 3: Fire & Ice.

Another consequence of Global Warming that is largely ignored by the commerce-controlled mass-media is the turning off of the earth's temperature regulating system.

Globalists only admit mistakes to encourage uncertainty and their prize of world ownership seems so near to hand, but science is not totally controlled and the human urge for understanding is not easy to suppress.

Globalists do not dare ignore all that well-established scientific study exposes, however, being expert at deceit, disguise and misinformation, they expose with minimum publicity to sooth our fears and know that the most convincing lies must be mixed with truth. Then, as we avoid effective action we can to be overwhelmed. Globalists work to an arrogant agenda. Is their tricky program as reliable as they imagine?

It is not explained to the commonalty that changes may occur quickly, violently and erratically. Any regions may get hot, wet, cold or dry -- that large, now extinct animals were found in the Siberian permafrost with temperate-climate food in their mouths was not the result of a freak storm! Had they been frozen and not remained frozen, they would have decayed as normal. This area, as we now know, was an area of lush vegetation with soil high in compost.

Breaking down of the earth's climate regulating system may dramatically increase violent weather and switch, over different areas, between warming and cooling before the earth becomes a stagnant solarium.

All land-based ice-melt adds to sea level rise. Changes aren't restricted to localities! If the Gulf Stream, taking warm water from the Gulf of Mexico to the north of England turns off, north-west Europe will get very cold for a time before the more general warming takes over.

What will turn the Gulf Stream off? Flood of fresh water from the melting Greenland glaciers is sufficient.

It is reported to have already happened for ten days in 2004. Fresh water of glacial melt, lighter than the salt water of the Gulf Stream, can change its natural flow; on the other hand, when too much of the polar sea-ice melts, the difference in density between the warm equatorial water and the fresh arctic-melt can also affect the flow.

So don't be fooled that the melting of sea-ice is irrelevant to climate change. Ocean currents are basic to earth's temperature and weather control system.

Changing currents change weather! Also faintly exposed, is that the water supply for some large Asian and South American populations is from yearly melt of glaciers that are now melting away.

Droughts and storms mingle and spread! As weather changes massive populations will face starvation while land-based ice-melt, causes sea rise and lowland flooding will reduce land area for food production as it forces population movement. Compounding of forces will surely be dramatic!

Bio-fuels should be outlawed! Why waste time and energy on research detrimental to our needs?

Dedicating agricultural land and forest to production of alternative fuel is already causing food shortages and rising prices. This is a "eat or drive" decision.

We need to solve problems, not create them! Ration oil based fuel and force development of power that does not reduce food supply. Electric cars are more efficient and households in most climates can get enough energy from the sun for common motoring needs.

Service stations can adapt; more efficient solar-energy collection is an immediate priority. Improvements are available but not receiving urgent support.

The Carbon trading trap! Help the environment by planting trees but why waste the value of this to support dirty industry? Al Gore did not complete the earth-change picture with "An Inconvenient Truth". Global Warming is a developing science! Human behaviour is critical to the mixture; we cannot afford to ignore human-behaviour problems; we do need to keep informed!

Once set in our beliefs, we find it very difficult to change. We should not panic but if we, the people, are to survive, challenge to stagnant preconceptions must be extreme. Maturing intellect must break free of animal survival instincts.

Backward Glance: a re-quote from "GNIEB << BEING".

"Plato, about 400 BC, gave us warning: He explained that when people are indoctrinated to lies, if you then try to point out the simple facts they will laugh at you.

If you persist ... to explain what they are quite capable of understanding, then they will try to kill you."

"Example: To day we sacrifice children to drugs, road death, mutilation, violent and irrational behaviour en-masse. We ignore causes we are fully able to understand. WHY? Because facing our crimes of ignorance challenges our arrogance, and is too painful to contemplate!

"Example: That we live in a democracy is a lie of incessant propaganda. But any average one of us is quite capable of understanding that, if we elect to our parliament representatives chosen by private interests, then they do not represent public interests." End quote.

Do we wonder why Plato, so long ago, understood what so many seem unable to understand now, even with expensive 'education' and massive evidence? Plato learned from observation and desire for truth!

Over a few generations we are led to simplistic philosophies and attitudes that appeal to the young and inexperienced. As we start living by ideas absorbed from mass indoctrination we forget truth and find our beliefs painful to give up.

Our abilities advance but enslavement by cultural indoctrination is innate to childhood development where real-life experience is minimised! Today we need to use our reasoning intellect to free ourselves of manipulation implanted via our primitive instincts. Many are capable of intellectual logic so let's face the consequences of primitive cultural entanglements.

PRIMARILY: Problems of GW as secondary!

Our primary problem, the problem that has to be addressed before useful action can be taken, is our need to use our human intellect to overcome forces of control directed through primitive emotions. Only then do we understand and act on our own behalf.

Until we are prepared to take responsibility for our lives, our understanding, our attitudes and governing, we have no control, or say in our future! In thinking we are free we become bogged in deceit! Only by facing the horrendous consequences will we submit to our intelligence over our emotions.

How can we gain control of our lives? First we inform ourselves of main issues by seeking truth rather than selfishly relaxing in a cultural dream-time. When useful numbers do this, others gain confidence to follow. Scientists in particular need to understand their social responsibilities.

Electorates must choose representatives of known organizing ability: people of social conscience and demonstrated honesty. When we organize to choose honest able citizens as our representatives, rather than electing the ego driven who, in common ignorance, offer service to those with power to, we will thrive. Only by sacrifice of pride do we, the people, gain access to the truthful information needed to direct our lives to our common benefit.

Knowledge is Power!

We have the ability! It is practical! It can be done! When we see the overwhelming need of it – it will be done; but will we leave it too late?

In control of governments we can act quickly. We cannot afford to waste time on quisling governments. If we don't alert ourselves, political procrastination will take us past the point of no return.

Note: Remember: Part 2, the United Nations report?

It agreed the great earth changes (involved with the formation of oil and coal and causing massive extinctions of life) were probably started by some traumatic event such as super volcanic eruption or meteor strike. Resulting pollution melts polar ice and is followed by tectonic plate movement and more pollution. This adds confirmation that excess of pollution upsets the balance of nature, earth warms and oceans stagnate until after a long period of cleaning.

This UN report also agreed that the return of these changes will involve great reduction of food supply because of changing weather along with the devastating effect of Asian glacier melt on large Chinese, Indian and South American populations.

That United Nations Environment Program, said to be their fourth Global Environmental Outlook since 1997, was called a "Final Wake-Up Call" on Population and Environment. Did I miss the headlines and TV trumpet warnings of a so obviously important disclosure issued by our top Globalist agency? Why did they not want public awakening? Could not risk public response. Tell me: did you actually see or hear this publicised on public media?

Those of our readers, who read our report of it, probably noticed the careful little side steps such as that everyone didn't agree! In fact, over all, the statement seemed to resemble a fire alarm fitted with a muffling cover so as not to disturb our slumber. Well, can you say they didn't sound the alarm just because you didn't hear it, can you?

We need to realize: that so long as we are distracted from knowledge of the basic forces involved with the creation of life, it is very difficult to understand the challenge of life. If you don't know what they are talking about then they can tell us, and we can believe, anything.

Life is an unnatural ordering of energy created by intelligence; our self-destructive behaviour represents the battle between intelligence (for increase of order of life) as against the natural force of energy for return to rest. All order, if left to itself, is in constant decay! For realistic explanation see: GNIEB><BEING.

Global Warming – 4: Two important DVDs

Al Gore's "An Inconvenient Truth" opened the door. The following DVDs are essential to understanding our world today. The first exposes (again) our human failure to take responsibility for our own affairs and the second exposes the underlying reality of our situation.

DVD 1, "Who Killed the Electric Car", was of personal interest to me because I was once a car enthusiast from a motor sport point of view and now an Electric Car enthusiast from a GW point of view.

According to reports from those who used it, the Electric Car is the most efficient and practical form of personal motor transport so far invented.

As mechanically inclined people can agree, the electric motor is well tried, used in a huge variety of applications and of impressive reliability; it's mechanically uncomplicated and efficient for this use.

Users claimed to collect enough solar energy, with solar panels, for ordinary daily use of the prototype mentioned below.

Foreseeable advances will make electric cars the personal transport of any possible future.

A modern well-designed prototype electric car was produced by leading car manufacturer General Motors and SCRAPPED, just a few years before Global Warming became headline news. This car had to have been extensively researched and those produced were tested and loved by a fair sample of USA motorists.

So what is of great interest to us is the story of why, despite wide protest by users, it was unceremoniously scrapped and great effort made by its manufacturer to discredit it and destroy all prototypes.

Had it been commercially produced, solar-power development would have been encouraged and the firm saved from its recent economic embarrassment.

No one was allowed to buy or maintain legal ownership to further display its advantages. Is that not strange behaviour in today's commercial culture?

What excuses were suggested?

1. The company could make more profit from the more complicated and expensive cars already being produced. That's stupid; a cheaper, better car sells to more buyers at a better profit margin. Nothing there to debate!

2. That it did not have sufficient range. Nevertheless those using the car were so pleased with it that they had to be forced to give it up. For holiday travel and commercial use it is not unusual for a family to use both personal and commercial transport. In any case research solutions to all problems must have been carefully considered before the public trial.

3. That the oil companies, having more financial power, forced/bribed the car manufacturer to withdraw the car. That's a good argument in view of today's commercial morality though (of course) contrary to good or honest government. In rational democracy no government would accept such industrial blackmail?

Is there a better alternative? Hybrids are complicated and expensive, and only slightly reduce the pollution we need to eliminate; useful alternative fuels will take years of development. Solar is here now with excellent development prospects! When no rational reason is offered then we must look for those hidden.

Why would any honest national government weaken its own international power base – the economic power base of the nation it governs?

Why would any government bow to pressure that it only need expose to defeat? A similar situation occurred early last century when bankers threatened to withdraw services! True democratic government could and would expose commercial blackmail with certainty of full community support for required action. Action might include: nationalising of offending companies or jailing of offenders. But then, as now, government bowed in subservience to commercial pressure.

That was a warning alarm! It exposed that what was thought to be "our" democratic government was under control of private agencies of unknown allegiance; but we, the people, ignored it.

Inefficient industry weakens the competitive position of the nation; no honest government wants that! But it was seen that governments did aid the campaign to kill the electric car; that makes its recall the most bizarre part of the entire event, though perhaps no more so than the earlier demonstrated power of those in control of the financial system. However it seems, now much more obvious, that the USA is being set up for economic decay with government help?

Globalism is international government! Nationalism is its enemy! The poor quality of parliamentarians makes their realization of what they are doing unlikely. Globalism infiltrates political parties to control our government by blackmail or manipulation, so, to achieve secret goals, it does.

Use of the poor of other countries as economic slaves in unregulated factories, creates huge pollution and economic power shift. Economic mismanagement, at this level, cannot seriously be claimed as responsible by any government working for its citizens! The claim of democracy is obviously fraudulent.

Globalism claims global efficiency as its great human benefit! What is it afraid of – what is of greater importance to Globalists than the welfare of the global community?

To make any rational logical sense there has to be a hidden agenda that is of more importance to Globalism than its public agenda? If Globalism works for human benefit then it will work with public co-operation. No hidden agenda is needed! Does killing of the electric car throw light on Globalist genocide plans?

Note: Recent news claims Toyota is putting on trial in the USA a new internal-combustion/electric hybrid car.

It claims to have developed better batteries. Its detractors immediately point out that the electricity it uses will mostly come from coal-fired power stations.

A legitimate claim, especially as it uses an internal combustion engine as backup and does not appear to be exploiting the solar power potential. Is it designed to avoid commercial conflict with pollution cleaning for advertising advantage? Why not go all electric?

Has GM, who built the true electric car prototype managed to lock in some essential patent? If so, can we allow such foolishness to endanger the human future?

Do you know that there is already in advanced development a superior solar-energy collecting technology that can be included in window glass or used as surface coating for steel?

By the time electric car production is tooled up we could have cars whose entire surface is energy collecting to extend battery life on the road; cars designed for use with home solar energy collection and with battery packs to slide out and be exchanged at service stations in less time than it now takes to refill with petrol.

Certainly the service station would not, at present, recharge with solar energy but there are, in late stage development, small power generating packs for home and industry that are more efficient, cleaner and cheaper than present coal-powered commercial power.

These, designed to make individual homes independent of mains power, if combined with sun power, could be even smaller and cheaper. Homes and personal transport could be almost pollution free world-wide.

Geothermal energy powered stations, now ignored by big business and government, are already in limited use. This natural clean source needs only political will for wide development. It seems the main reason for its neglect and the pushing of messy alternatives, is that it is incompatible with present commercial motivation.

Why are we being led to huge development of inefficient or polluting technology for a maybe 20% reduction in pollution in twenty years when we need, for reasonable safety, 90% reduction in twenty years?

Next: The DVD called "CRUDE":

This is the story of how oil was created – it is the story that makes clear oils danger and further highlights consequences of cultural manipulation.

Our understanding of how crude came into existence is quite recent, mostly within the last 20 years. We have long known that both oil and coal were formed by conversion of ancient living organisms, this, of course, refers to basics; now new details reveal the consequences of excessive use.

All who care about the future of human life should make it their business to view, and publicise, the story of oil and its creation! Why! Because "Politically Correct" Globalist government avoids doing so!

In short, the young earth was unfriendly to human life. Even in the Jurassic huge storms, volcanoes, earthquakes, and pollution tormented it. Our earth could not support the human development until it could offer its present air-conditioned "Garden of Eden" beauty; at times the temperature was too hot for ice to form at the poles; the great oceans, often stagnant and too polluted for the life of today; no coal and oil for development of human industry.

But life-forms designed to solve those problems appeared! That environment was great for plant life and organisms designed to absorb the pollution and sun's energy. The ocean-living life forms absorbed pollution in bulk and thrived. They died and sank to ocean bottom in great mass to be enfolded in the shifting earth, compressed and baked for a few million years in conversion to oil; on land, plant-life to coal.

This balancing and cleaning of earth occurred five times prior to our period of stability. We do not yet know at what point the balance changes, but we do know that at the time of anoxic oceans the atmospheric pollution was only about five times that of our pre-industrial earth.

Note: That five-times cleaning! Note that we don't know at what level of pollution the switch will be triggered again. Each time, after those life-forms had absorbed the pollution and cleaned the atmosphere, there came amazing change! Temperature dropped, ice caps formed! With air and water cleaned, the land and oceans gained new life.

To encapsulate: The pollution eating 'plankton' absorbed the sunlight and the carbon atoms and carried these energies to the bottom of the oceans where they became covered with silt and enfolded in time.

In earth's folds, heat and pressure, turned energy and carbon into oil. With clean water and climate control there came diversity for life and beauty for the eye. This planet was designed for human occupation and development.

Then man appeared, took his axe to the tree, built boats to explore all this great world to see.
We dug coal from the earth; we invented the wheel;
with coal and with ore we learned to make steel.

Then to power our wheels we piped oil from earth's heart and with flippers and steels took the oceans apart.
Having ventured the depths, then up in the skies,
we saw heaven as next; there were stars in our eyes.

Wait! Hold on young man look back while you can,
that dark-blood of earth could be death blood of man.
You have powers to go to the heavens above but you have to think now of the life that you love.

Look back to the past to know what you are, take care how you tread if you want to go far.
There are rules there are signs, there are battles to win, truth is life and eternal, look back and within.

So we now use this convenient energy to drive all manner of transport and machinery. There would have been no problem had we, the people, taken our responsibility for self-government seriously.

Had we taken note of the warnings related to 'party government systems' and taken responsibility for our own governing as we set up for ourselves, we would have kept access to the stream of learning open! We would have taken heed of dangers and confined them.

Knowing we were releasing pollution, created by earth's formation and locked away to make earth healthy for human life, our intelligence would have directed technology to its life-friendly potentials; the volume of pollutants released back into the atmosphere would have been limited.

However our love of the easy life and desire to avoid responsibility brought us into immoral submission to illegal government and commercial entrepreneurs. We became happy to believe we could trust those we knew untrustworthy. We lived as prey to deception by fools.

Understood by our Creator, we were warned of this. So, brought to the test, will the weeds (seeded by deceits and lies) sown within the field of the spirit of life, be gathered and destroyed as foretold – will those who love and honour truth reject the bad seed, seek to know truth better, and (free of religious dogma) thrive in development of a future reformed in love of truth?

Well I think that the Creator got the balance right but we will have to wait and see who wants to live and who stubbornly rejects their potential.

Global Warming – 5: Of Warning and War!

This is not a statement of religious dogma but the coincidence of Christian Testaments, world events and moral collapse all together, should give cause for serious thought. Evolution is only theory; even today its advocates are unable, in science, to class it higher!

Are we about to fulfil prophecy: Matthew 24: 21-22; we now have potential to destroy all life on earth and that ability is not restricted to GW?

"Revelation of John" 17.18 clearly reveals that we destroy the "Great City" – the whore of commerce – where ego serves usury and destroys morality?

Yes, major events of the human future are set out quite clearly when we clear the religious dogma of Humanist religion from our minds. Read GNIEB><BEING to get life in perspective.

Now that we know the kind of world we will create by continued abuse of fossil fuels, we should not be so trusting as to ignore that our human development is being massively deformed in childhood with 'dumbed down' values and crude encouragements to primitive behaviour.

When made intellectually incompetent by massive social indoctrination we become incompetent to form logical behaviour patterns: culturally we are consumed by a madness created by inbreeding of deceit and cultural dogmas.

The decline and destruction of culture:

As we see our nature, so we live our lives! Culture is now based on the dogmas we call "philosophy" or "religion" and these so quickly overcome morality. Globalist/humanist/communist elitists see this as our nature and claim right to reshape man to serve their selfish ambitions but in thus enslaving humanity they do not see that, as they lead under spell of indoctrinated greed, they also destroy their own human potential for advance

Seduced to animal values we worship humanist religion. But don't despair, we can still, if we will, use our gift of intelligence to save great suffering?

Taught to believe that life has no meaning and encouraged to see this as 'freedom', to behave as we wish, we imagine our values. We use emotional stimulation to magnify animal instincts and, with pride, enjoy unnatural development of emotion-based pleasures. Ignorant of truth, we lose human direction for advance of life?

So, blind to truth, we decay in commercial, cultural and human behaviour! Then, when our corruption passes our life supporting productive potential, our situation is as when rising use of fossil fuels passes declining reserves: Illness passes our health-care ability; crime passes our law enforcement capacity; transport failures overcome our service abilities and international law becomes excuse for war.

As, vandalism, drugs and cruelty grow out of control: law, under increasing pressure, is reluctant to punish offenders; government increasingly restricts parental discipline; sickness increases as health services decline; those intelligent, see a life without future when no human values of growth and achievement are recognized! The chaos now growing is culture dying!

As community disintegrates we rebel in blind fury to destroy every image of justice. Cultures/civilizations, collapse! We seek reasons, blind to the ego that leads to dogma and false gods. Trapped in dogma, search for truth ends as we create problems we cannot overcome.

Having accepted false beliefs, pride, prejudice and tribal-group loyalties turn us away from improving logic and truthful learning. When our intelligence tells us there is nothing to gain by civilized behaviour, are we free or caged in animal instincts? As Thomas Szasz says; quote: Every act of conscious learning requires the willingness to suffer an injury to one's self-esteem. That is why young children, before they are aware of their own self-importance, learn so easily; and why older persons, especially if vain or important, cannot learn at all.

Yes: the innocent learn so easily and, trusting elders, are as easily deceived. When parents taught their darlings they taught with experience and authority of generations in service to future behaviour. Now, escaping responsibility, parents deliver children to kindergartens – to strangers – to unknown sacrifice.

Or more poetically put:

But innocence, learning easily: is easily deceived and trusting parents, folly true, try not to feel bereaved. Where once were taught life's lessons wise for serving lifelong needs we now are taught the tyrants way of sacrifice to greeds.

The innocent are not to blame their learning serves to hide our shame.

But every child is yours and mine, for futures living glory Let not the tyrants close the doors on life's eternal story.

When pride of ignorance leads us to see ourselves as animals, many accept that stimulating ourselves to destruction with drugs and artificial fantasies is the best life offers.

Those who created this culture lie when they say we are free! Led, by chains of mental deceit to self-destruction, is no freedom!

So let us not be deceived to think there is no other potential available for our choice! Truly, we may still choose to develop our humanity to infinite choices of adventure and achievement.

From Impossible Dream to cultural nightmare!

Today we allow our children to be indoctrinated en-masse and trapped into a theory of evolution that all free intelligence knows is impossible. Do palaeontologists, finding a site with animal bones, charcoal and pieces of stone shaped like arrowheads, say: chance creation? No! They say this is a campsite of early man?

Though they know that a broken piece of stone resembling an arrowhead might possibly have been created by chance and by chance been deposited near a pile of charcoal along with animal bones, they also know that even such simple artefacts, and coincidences, during the time of life on earth, require other conclusions.

Yet we allow teaching, as if it were truth, that the incredibly complex earth and the life on it are simple coincidence; this, despite that all intelligent reason and scientific evidence shows it just contrarious theory.

How much evidence of what is impossible do we need? But with minds set to reject challenge we no longer consider evidence. Experience shows that, even if forced to admit fact in confines of logical group discussion, given a day alone most will return to their pride-shaped niche.

What a price we pay for pride's delusions? This work is not just about my life or yours; it is about life itself.

How many will sacrifice humanity for pride? How long must charcoal, of ancient campfire remain in place before animal bones become scattered about it by chance? How long must a gene be in place to give potential of hearing before complementary genes (to give it meaning) are created and arranged by chance, for life service? It cannot happen: chance is limited by nature's laws!

Are we told time doesn't matter? It doesn't; but deceit does! Millions of campfires leave no trace. Those surviving need special circumstances to preserve them; bones and human artefacts must all be contemporary.

For genes also! Any gene, good or useless, has equal chance of chance destruction. But damage to a useful gene disadvantages its owner; the creature involved is disadvantaged but its undamaged relatives survive to maintain the needed gene. Loss of a useless gene does NOT disadvantage! So a chance created gene (were it possible) is long lost before other genes, chance created, are chance assembled to serve any useful biological service.

The human brain, arguably the most complicated thing known, is by chance and nature's laws, impossible. Creation demands order of truth and can only take place by intelligent arrangement. All creation, living or immobile, must be set in truth's logic, intelligent development gives us access to infinite potentials.

We live in dangerous times:

This is no time for whining about maintenance of frivolous, culturally-destructive lifestyles, nor for screams about losing our 'rights' to continued self-mutilation!

No human gives children legal right to self destruction! Destroying the life potential of children with massive artificial stimulation to unnatural behaviour shows deadly level of moral sickness; not advance. Frying the child-mind with technology is not a human project. Held from true-life experience leads to immaturity.

Cheap clean energy is accessible but only intelligence will save us from self-destruction. Over 40 to 50 years we have used about half available oil – we may well be nudging the pollution balance switch point, right now. To continue this way while building a replacement technology, is sacrifice of future to deceit.

But that is consequence not cause. We cannot just scrap what we have used pollution to create and use similar tons of pollution to replace. We need make-do with what we have! Minimise industrial pollution until we know what we are doing! Waste to improve efficiency is not logical!

Balance renewal with saving; switch lights off, plant trees, repair! Cut transport; slave labour produced goods; holiday trips; new purchases!

Grow food; Make-do; Learn! Replace pay-for exercise with productive work. Half the population may need to be recycled into new employment!

To win life's war; exterminate the restraints imposed by false philosophy!

The cost of life-destroying pollution needs be paid for during the building of progressive civilization. Everything produced represents energy. We need to maintain remaining safety margin as we rebuild. If our errors are still not sufficiently obvious that we can admit our stupidity, then we die.

Truth is order; Order is creation; Creation is life! Life is only created in the Truth of its order by intelligence. See: www.gniebxbeing.org.uk

Global Warming – 6: Ofer that CAN'T be Refused

RECOVERY:

Recovery takes time but understanding comes to those who want it and those who care, deserve it! What is happening is painful but a truth loving philosophy, coupled to a "will to win", brings achievement.

Can we still not see that life's energy, wrongly used, is deadly to itself – that so long as we keep on using life with thoughtless selfishness and refuse to accept responsibility for our actions – we gain nothing from life's wonderful opportunity!

The Australian Constitution (young among modern democracies) sets the obvious essential: we, the people, must choose our candidates!

If we are to have government of the people by the people, we cannot just vote for representatives chosen by, and to serve, others. Voting for those chosen by others is a fool's pretence. True Democracy requires candidates be chosen by the people before the vote. Only when the people chose representatives from among themselves do we have democracy.

To take responsibility for our lives we adopt simple procedures for first choosing and then electing those most competent among us to act in unity with our common will. We understand it but we don't do it! We don't accept the honest values we see with our eyes, hear with our ears and feel in the heart of our being and so can't avoid the criminal claims we now submit to!

Scriptures tell us: "I am the way: I am the truth and I am life; no one comes to the Father except by me." This gives it authority; it is important we understand that authority helps understanding. [Quote in Modern English from, New English Bible.] Understanding has never been more important to the survival of humanity than right now.

Why is that statement important? Yes, it's important because of the person who said it but its vital importance is that it is true. It is true to self-discipline of scientific logic! It impresses on us that the way of life's advance is through truth and that no one can know the creative force of life, (understand the force that offers life) except by advancing in love of truth. In accepting love of truth our faith gives us the sword of Truth and power to win the war of life! By winning the war within us, other wars are won.

Animal lives are programmed! Humanity is enabled to seemingly infinite development. We are clearly reminded of what we now urgently need to see: that life can only advance within order of truth. This is the way of life's progress! Dogma is dead to progress. If we do not base our life philosophy on living truth, then, in stagnancy of dogma, we die.

Having been challenged and guided to our present level of being, we can now look into the pit of non-being (of chaos), a place we currently see as non-existence, and make a simple choice.

Intellectual Order or Mindless Force?

Having taken control of our development, what is the next step? Stopping the criminal war in Iraq! How do we stop it? We stop it by making the Iraqi people an offer they can't sensibly refuse!

The necessity of this war was the claim that Iraq was building weapons of mass destruction. However those making the claim knew it to be false. Globalists control international finance and the scientific facilities from which smaller nations purchase advanced technology. Everyone interested knew very well that Iraq was spending on frivolities.

Was the leader of Iraq unjust, cruel, and murderous? We were told so; but by what comparison? Poll Pot? Some murderous regime in Africa? President G.W. Bush? This war has caused far more human pain than most despots could imagine. As pointed out at the beginning of this Iraq war, there was no need of it and even had there been a need, the situation could have been resolved with limited pain.

Iraqi leaders knew they could not defeat the USA! No option but surrender were honourable terms offered? Terms might include abdication of the leader – that the people choose a government allowing inspection of armaments and production facilities! After this, if no weapons of mass destruction were being produced, the people could vote for the leader's return if they so choose. War is not a human inspiration.

Neither in the past nor in the future will we justify destruction of a nation's people for no other reason than claim of leadership brutality. Atrocities have been, and are being committed; adding more is not a repair. We live with our past because, to our shame, our example is not enlightening.

The offer could have said: If not accepted the US air force, progressively, will destroy the Iraqi air force; cut road and rail bridge links with the capital; close the borders. If these steps were not sufficient to achieve compliance, then power stations would be disabled. Iraq, a third level power, could not long resist a modern form of siege. With little to lose by compliance there is no need of occupation or mass murder.

Let the enormity of our crime be acknowledged! Then, given the present world situation is made clear by nations whose people have acted to create true government "of the people by the people, for the people" and dismissed stooges chosen to serve Globalist pride and ego; it is not beyond the intelligence of the world's people, and of nations bordering Iraq, to set conditions for withdrawal of foreign troops.

Present human chaos and suffering is just the first breath of "politically correct" suicide. The Globalist power grab will only be brought to an end when caring people have the courage to take control of their governing and offer serious vision of a true, New World Order.

The saving of energy consumed by criminal war would, itself, be a useful help in restraint of global pollution. When nations see human survival is at stake, then all begin facing responsibilities.

We cannot live with increasing ignorance and slow Global Warming. As seen, flow-on effects multiply as systems lose balance; that is in the nature of both culture and structure. To accumulate intellectual power for renewal we need develop human spirit.

Massive re-education of attitude is needed; increased spending on deceit is not advance. The recent "United Nations report on Climate Change" at least gave hint of urgency by admitting that its previous figures, (the work that gave it a share of the Noble Prize) were over-optimistic. New calculations brought the danger time back to 2005. An improvement, but 'political correctness' glues action until they themselves panic; that will be too late.

Anti-life ideologies are now in control! Humanity pleads for development! Pretence changes nothing! In human cause we can use neither deformity of intellect, nor force of arms, as life-control systems; self-deceit is self-destruction! Human survival needs honest philosophy.

IN SUMMARY

Global 2000 population target levels cannot be met by corruption of medical services and intellect. Deceptive life information; Corrupt law; Additives: i.e., Fluoride and Chloride to public water; all help create the irrational behavioural structure that to leave us ignorant and dependant.

Despite that the more advanced cultures were becoming population stable and honest disclosure of problems would have given sustainable results; this was avoided. But re-awakening is still our option.

If we look into the future we see global warming squeezing living space and food production! Black Africa now represents the world of your children or grand children but they will not be toughened to such challenge of poverty and despair. When things get tough for us (cultural and racial strife within our, now very mixed cultures, will replace tribal divisions).

Don't tell me this is not planned! History, right up to present times, shows mixed culture and race igniting first violence when troubles accumulate.

The USA, our most powerful nation, now targeted through corruption, is near bankrupt and already so morally and financially weak as to be unable to care for soldiers sickened and injured in misguided wars.

We, as we welcome foreign nationals and races, may think ourselves sophisticated and advanced in humane ideals, but humans have never found it difficult to appreciate foreign cultures in peaceful and mutually beneficial circumstances. Those who think otherwise have listened to humanistic deceivers rather than taken a little time to look at history.

Humanism has not subdued our animal responses but intensified them. Look about you! We, like revellers on a boat drifting to a waterfall, drift faster the closer to destruction. Look at health; medical services!

Behaviour: law-enforcement! Philosophy; corruption! World-wide, our wealthy culture is a fools paradise empty of meaning or purpose. When too few serve life, corruption pulls us past the point of no return.

Beyond that (barring external intervention) resides extinction! Don't scream at me. Each is to blame; each has power to change, learn and act. No one of us paid anything for the opportunity life gives, yet how many complain because they suffer for disregard of truth. I claim no saintly virtues but I charge no one for what was given me.

Global Warming – 7: Action! + Awakening.

ACTION:

Human culture; now pregnant to deceitful philosophy; misled by corruption, criminality, confusion, greed and selfishness, has polluted itself to Global Warming and cultural disaster! The issue is human behaviour and we don't want to face it! Humanity is about development of human spirit. Intellectual growth in logic of truth is the way of human spirit!

Illogical statements are not confined to a particular religion or philosophy! Claims, of not having a religion, only reflect uncaring evasion of positive effort. Escapism takes many forms; dogma is soul-dead!

A few days ago I heard a religious person say that God had set the course of every life. I wonder why he opened his mouth if he believed he had no say or influence on life, or its outcome?

As is well proven on this site and beyond, chance cannot create order. Only intelligence can create order of structural truth. The intelligence that created the order of life is not stupid; all history and the Christian testament reveal life in development by learning, spiritual growth and refining conflict. To make the best of life we need to understand this.

I have given a long lifetime in search of life's truth. Though not raised in a religious family, somewhere I learned the bedtime prayer and recall, as a child, I had one question for God: God, why am I here? Not unusual perhaps, but I was serious and it seems to have taken a lifetime for the creator to teach me the answer within meaning of what you and I are able to understand at our present level of development.

Many are misled to trust that government (by the worst of our own kind) will save them. Others think God will save them: but the scriptural message is that those who value truth enough to work, and when necessary die for it, will be saved. Is that too much to ask?

Many join armies; is country more important than life? My work is to help those who value life, see they have an opportunity to become part of life eternal.

Understanding of scripture is logical resolution: The God of this creation is Order of Truth! Those who reject order of truth work for death! Fools are free to destroy themselves but are not able to destroy life.

Jesus says: "I am life, I am truth!" Also: "He who is not with me is against me!" It should be obvious that the limits of past civilizations were set by limits they imposed on themselves by level of truth in their philosophies. Stagnant philosophies destroy human civilizations. The Christian message is about development of life! Life that cannot, or will not advance, is dead. Were it not so, the life of Jesus would have no intelligent purpose. Spiritual progress dies when denied freedom of truth!

Religions worship dogma; dogma smothers truth! To believe, some must see it demonstrated; until we do we inflict suffering on ourselves.

Realistic understanding of life's creation allows revelation of the difference between the scriptural message and religious dogma. Don't expect total interpretation, but within logical ability there is enough for those who love truth. Understanding, even at this late stage, saves those who seek in faith.

Today, the commonalty worships sex and power, as God! Every creature of life: animal, bird, insect, worm in the ground, has the pleasant urge. Like eating, it is part of flesh's design and can achieve no more than the robotic programs set in flesh!

In balance of life's achievement these are nothing! Life has limitless potential! Worldly sacrifice is small sacrifice!

The load of life is small! We may each use our gift of living intellect to make decisions to sacrifice desired beliefs; we need sacrifice ego to truth! Those wanting part of this great adventure must gain vision to see beyond dead pleasure and pride – reject stagnant limits of dead dogma!

The following offer, in a world of low values, is to emphasise that life has higher value! It is no challenge the shady finance of Globalism. Our force is within. Our prize is "life or death". In a world where all meaning is deformed, a "fist-full of dollars" ($100,000) may help some see that, unlike others, I am serious.
