SAVING THE FUTURE – again!

Seasons greetings to all readers for 2008-9: may you find the information on this site rewarding to your efforts to live life to its best advantage and reward.

Let's pause to contemplate our situation. Given the best of 87 years invested in understanding of life and the world we live in, I should be a wise old man. Well, were I really wise, I might evade all attempts of forecasting the future.

However it does seem to me (especially in the present circumstances) that we do need consider what the future has in store and while it may not be possible to give technically accurate time and activities forecasts it is possible to use available evidence to foresee dangers and pitfalls that, with forewarning, may be avoided or reduced in their consequences.

Consider the problem of "Global Warming"! As pointed out elsewhere, this problem was (no doubt deliberately) misnamed; it should be "Global WARNING" and warn of "Global WAR-ing". But, as seen in Book 5, the anti-life force of basic nature works against all organization of order and the development of intelligent life.

It seems that the anti-life force sees eternal rest as the perfect state of nature and constantly works against all organization of energy. Left to this force, the universe will gradually disintegrate back to total silence, neutral energy and the perfect chaos of immobility. The alternative element, "intelligence", sees the organisation and development of life as the "Great Escape" from eternal nothingness.

Once we understand that life only exists as a result of energy organised in an order of truth, then we see the nature and need for strife in relation to life and creation. We live by energy divided! Energy is organized by intelligence into an order of "BEING" that supports life and multiplies intelligence. So, for life to advance it needs constantly to overcome the challenge of the anti-life and, at this particular stage of our development, we are called on to face a challenge that will, in the end, decide our individual choice of LIFE or eternal REST.

Earth-life!

One of the great divides at earth-life level (consistent with life and death) is industry and commerce.

Christian Scriptures warn of "usury". Usury is most simply seen as a charging of excessive interest on money, but usury goes far beyond cost of borrowed money. Usury is making use of others for opportunistic personal (family, group or party) advantage.

So here we see why "commerce" is called "The Great Whore" in Christian parable. Commerce, with very little or no input to the production of goods and services, takes over the productivity of "industry" and manipulates its distribution for its own energy-wasting, selfish desire.

By commercial control of finance the world is now governed and manipulated to agony and destruction! Wars and depressions are organised for selfish gain as can be clearly seen by those not too dumbed down (by deceit, and cultural education to belief in the false philosophy of humanism) to notice!

Understanding of the origin of their culturally criminal behaviour (by those involved) does not change the consequences. Life is created in accord with the intellectual logic of truth – of cause and effect – when this is deformed the designed order of life is aborted and effort turns to destruction!

So where does Global Warming fit in? GW on earth began when the young earth was cleaned to make it ready for our human generation. Science points to evidence of the clean-up happening in five steps, each of which involved the gathering of pollution (through absorption-harvesting by simple life-forms) and burial in earth's folding surface.

The first cleaning would be of surplus energy (pollution) accumulated during earth's creation. Later volcanos, meteor strikes, or combinations of these allowed more thorough clean-ups – a six stage creation-designed program for a designed purpose!

The end result was an earth containing all necessities including power (in the form of the buried surplus); all ready for when the human spirit was infused in man some 6,000 years ago and development of the intellectual gift of a logic created a humanity given access to the truth of our creation and its purpose.

Point of Interest: Did the six stages of earth's creation mentioned in the Gospels (where on the seventh day He rested) represent the creation of our earth and humanity, as now to be seen? Was His day of rest the day of our development and temptation by an anti-life left free on earth? (See Christian scriptures for clues.)

Our development required we resist our negative forces of greed, envy, sloth etc., these the anti-life would tempt us to exploit. But we were also sent a messenger to give us guidance and warning.

We were warned that without a final intervention by our Creator we would make our earth uninhabitable! Do not take this to mean that we will be saved without effort on our part, we are warned not to put our Creator to the test. As explained in these writings, we were given intelligence to use and develop. We have reached our time of decision.

Read Christian Scriptures (the four Gospels) with understanding that life can only be produced by intelligent construction of energy in the order of life's truth! You then see more easily where human mistakes enter scriptures. We are also told: all that is hidden will become clear and that we should not fear death of the body, only fear that force that may consign us to eternal death of the spirit.

Note! When the Devil challenged Jesus to prove his identity by throwing himself down from a high place (quoting Old Testament Scriptures of safety). What does Jesus say? He reminds the Devil that Scriptures also say "Put not the Lord your God to the test!" Here we have an authoritative, logical statement showing that intelligence is given us for our personal, responsible-development and choice.

Given understanding of the true nature of a creation based on the logic of cause and effect, we realize that the birds and bees; the worms and trees, are all biological mechanisms designed to serve a limited purpose. These are controlled by their design and have no intellect to understand basic cause and consequence – no ability by vision of future to change behaviour to their advancement. They live within limits set by environment and design.

Humans are given (in their service) an intellectual spirit to aid their beneficial behaviour. While our pain and suffering may seem at times unfair, we must remember that pain is a passing feeling, while achievement of human progress is a lasting triumph. A simple example: How many mothers would abort their 'love created embryo' to avoid the pain of birth?

Be prepared: The birth of a new era will bring extensive pain but those caring for the future of life will look for logical signs and prepare in knowing foresight that, having done their best as part of the human development, they will not be abandoned! Our creator understands our limitations.

Now a look at today: In the USA a new president has been elected. We know that elections, in our fake democracy, are backed by the ill-gotten gains of commerce. We have seen planning for this "first African-American president" in TV dramas showing such a president in a good light. Was, by propaganda the USA population set-up for this emotional leap?

So what is the plan behind this generated public emotion in the midst of the worst economic, military and moral shambles of our history? Is this President set for assassination to pave the way for emergency legislation that will set in place some sick military takeover or civil dictatorship?

Is that an incredible scenario? But who would have thought (even twenty years ago) that the mighty US of A could be brought to such levels of bankruptcy and corruption? Well I prefer it doesn't happen and the only way I can help abort the possibility of it is to explain and expose its prospect!

Some say that they don't want to know – that knowing frightens them! Ask if they close their eyes when driving so as not to see the dangers! Dangers we don't see are those most likely to harm us; those we do see we most likely avoid. We are responsible for government before it is for us! Politicians are people, just like us, but we now choose them by choice of manipulators – not by our own vision.

HUMANITY AWAKE!

Open those eyes to the human potential! Your world is in the hands of deceivers.

Happy holiday season to all..

THE GOLDEN RULE

Eventually, through suffering, humanity will come to realize that what is best for all is best for each. All then cease to strive for personal advantage to then strive for the common good.
